Cookies are uniquely assigned only to you and can only be read by a web server in the domain that issued the cookie to you.

One of the primary purposes of cookies is to provide a convenience feature to save you time. The purpose of a cookie is to tell the web server that you have returned to a specific page. For example, if you personalized HCI pages or register for the HCI Plan Room services, a cookie helps HCI to recall your specific information on subsequent visits. This simplifies the process of recording your personal information such as an email address and so on. When you return to the HCI Plan Room, the information you previously provided can be retrieved easily to use the HCI features that you customized.

The User has the ability to accept or decline cookies. Most Web browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually modify your browser settings to decline cookies if you prefer. Whenever you use our bidding website, a padlock image appears in the address bar at the top of the browser as an indication that the connection your device is in engaged in is secure.

We strive to take appropriate security measures to protect against unauthorized access to or alteration of your personal information. Unfortunately, no data transmission over the internet or any wireless network can be guaranteed to be 100% secure.
